A BRITISH ARMORED TRAIN IS BLOWN UP

FLEEING REFUGEES KILLED BY BOERS.

The English Were Making Their Way From The Transvaal Into Cape Colony-Outrages Were the Cause of Fifteen Deaths-News Has Stirred London.

Cape Town, Oct. 13—(Special)—A British armored train from Mafeking was blown up and destroyed by the 66 Boers at Vryburg last night.

The loss of life is not known, but it is feared to be heavy, as the train had aboard the last of the refugees fleeing from the Transvaal into the Cape Colony.

The news of the outrage has aroused the population here to a pitch of violence.

Cape Town, Oct. 13-(Special)-A dispatch received here says that fifteen British soldiers were killed in the destruction of the armored train, last night.

Great Tension in London.

London, Oct. 13—(Special)—The cabinet met this morning There was no crowd in Downing street this time, as it was known that the ministers had nothing important to decide but military details.

Elsewhere about the city, people show the first signs of excitement over the war news.

The destruction of the armored train, full of refugees, by the Boers, near Vryburg, has stirred London.

Great tension is felt as to the fate of the refugees on London, Oct. 13.—The Boer invasion of British territory, which was begun Wednesday night, was continued yesterday, but as far as known here not a shot has yet been fired. The only act of hostility so far, aside from the movement of troops, seems to be the seizure of a Natal train by the Orange Free State Burghers. The aggressive movements of the Boers, however, are sure to bring bloodshed quickly. Before Kimberley the Orange Boers have moved three miles nearer, 3,500 strong, with four field guns. The British have 3,000 troops, with ample ar tillery, and hold a strong position, On the northern frontier Col. Plumer's force, 600 strong, is still facing 1,000 Boers. The excitement is growing. 'At Mafeking Col. Baden-Powell, with 600 men and a force of artillery, has moved out of town and taken a strong position on the border. The Boer opposition is estimated at from 6,000 to 10,000. They have not yet moved, but era expected to attack soon.

> The Boer plan, as decided at the council of war at Sandspruit, is to take the aggressive all along the frontier. They expect to hold Laing's Nek in hopes of drawing the British out of Glencoe, so that the Free State burghers can rush the weakened garrison.

> The Boers will use Laing's Nek as their base for the present. The British are withdrawing from Charlestown, while Newcastle is already almost de> serted. Mafeking is anticipating attack momentarily. Ten thousand Boers under Commandant Cronje are encamped fifteen miles away, and it is believed that. they will shell the town with their twelve guns before attempting the final rush. All the streets of Mafeking are barricaded and defensive outworks have been raised and the ground mined in every direction. Baden-Powell is confident that he can beat off the Boers, but his force is insufficient to follow in case of Boer retreat.

Kimberley is in about the same position as Mafeking. The Boers are at the doors of the town, and an attack is expected immediately. The British, with 3,000 men, are ready for the defense. The Boers are also encamped near Burghersdorp. They will proba-bly first destroy the Benthulie bridge, then attack Aliwal North.

It is reported that the Boer ultimatum was drafted ten days ago by Dr. Smuts, who wanted to deliver it immediately, but was prevented by Kruger and Joubert.

It is suggested at the colonial office that Gen. Symons has the advanced posts of Natal in a complete state of defense and can hold any advance on Ladysmith in check. Sir George White $3. Then attend our special discount

The Daily Telegraph announces that the national petition with 60,000 signers against war has been withdrawn.

It is alleged that the Free State Boers have been endeavoring to induce the Basutos to cross the Caledon river and consent to a conference in the belief taht they favor the Transvaal, but it is understood that the Basutos ridicule the idea. The authorities are confident that an alliance between the Boers and Basutos is impossible.

The reply of the government to the

These were the subscription of Lord Ripon and himself. Independently of these two sums, the total was under fifty pounds. Only five dollars had been raised in America. There was not one subscriber in the borough of Huntingdon, and only two or three from the county. About twenty or thirty small sums had been received in England and had done all it could, it was now time, after four months, to close the matter. He suggested that the best thing would be to return the money to the subscribers, and this course was decided upon.

VERY PLEASANT RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. Child Entertain at Hanove For Mr. and Mrs. Kendall An unusually pleasant social event occurred last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Child of Hanover, it heing a reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kendall. Mr. and Mrs. Kendall had just returned from their wedding trip, they having been married at Janesville on Oct. 4- Mrs. Kendali being well known here as Miss Ada Lester, daughter of Mrs. Lester of Riverview Park.

The guests were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Child and Mr. and Mrs. Kendall in the parlors, the hours being from 8 to 9:30 o'clock. Following the reception. the guests repaired to the town hall where an unusually appetizing supper was served. Later, dancing was the feature of the evening, the music being furnished by Clemons' orchestra. About sixty couple were present, and the Janesville delegation numbered twentyfive people.

The occasion was one of keen enjoyment for all concerned, and the local participants speak very highly of the entertainment afforded them.

Mr. Kendall is the station agent of the Chicago & Northwestern railway at Hanover, and is a brother of Mrs. Child. He and his wife arrived in Janesville vesterday on their way home. They were met at the Hanover depot by the Hanover band, and escorted to Mr. and Mrs. Child's home.

WHEN ENGLAND GOES TO WAR.

How Her Great Armies and Powerful Fleets Are Kept Ready For Use In Any Part of the World.

BY LIEUTENANT H. R. GAHAN.

When England goes to war, she does | incompetency can mar a whole camit in a most businesslike manner. Probably no other nation on the globe is prepared to begin hostilities in any country washed by the seven seas on shorter notice. Some are just as ready to fly at the throats of their near anylhbors-Germany, France and Russia, for example—but none can send great bodies of troops over seas quicker than England.

This does not mean, of course, that England can ship an army on 24 hours' notice. That would be too absurd. In preparing for the Transvaal affair, the British war office has been criticised for its slowness. Yet it has taken less than a month to land the greater part of an army corps in South Africa, landings being made at ports from 6,000 to 9,000 miles away from the place of em-

When this achievement is contrasted with our own experiences of the Spanish-American war, it will be seen that the British war office has been by no means slow. It took us two months to land an army in Cuba after war had been declared, and preparations had been in progress for at least a month before that. True, we sent a much larger body of men than the British are sending to South Africa, but the distance was far less.

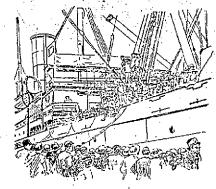

The fact must be recognized that the British war office, as now constituted, is a most admirable machine. It works smoothly, harmoniously and swiftly. It does its work with no more fuss and feathers than any of the great civic departments of the empire. The declaration of war does not throw it into confusion. There is no desperate haste about collecting munitions of war, no appeal to the country for volunteers. The men to carry the guns are already drilled and trained and uniformed. The officers to command them are also at hand. It is not necessary to drag them from civilian paths and pursuits

Neither does the British war office find it necessary to purchase at exorbitant rates steamers for use as troop transports when an army is to be ferried across the ocean. There are at all times available for the use of the war office a large number of great steamers already fitted for the business of carrying soldiers across the big waters.

When the troops are landed in Africa, it will be noticed that their guns, their ammunition and their ratious go ashore with them. There are no costly blunders such as were made in the Cuban campaign.

Of course this does not show the superiority of the British over us. It merely proves that England has profited by her long experience in making war and knows how to go about the work in the proper manner. What we did in Cuba was marvelous considering how poorly prepared we were for war. We could do it better next time probably.

But England is almost constantly on a war footing. From Plymouth and Portland and Portsmouth and Sheerness and Chatham and Liverpool the warships and army transports are constantly going and coming. On the army list are dozens of regiments of the line ready to take the field, and back of them are the militia and the reserve, all composed of men who know how to dress and wheel and work the guns, big and small.

But all this good material would be of little effect if it were not handled properly. And properly handled it is. The system is a magnificent one. Decentralization of responsibility is the keynote of the method. No one man's transaction of all this business.

The secretary of state for war is the official keystone in the arch of the British war office. He is practically the prototype of our secretary of war. Under this new regime the commander in chief, Field Marshal General Viscount Wolseley, retains the power of generally supervising all of the military departments of the war office, but the adjutant general, quartermaster general, inspector general of fortifications and inspector general of ordnance are no longer under his immediate supervision. They are directly responsible to the secretary of state for war, as is the commander in chief Nevertheless, General Wolseley is a very important figure in the British war office, and his influence in army matters is probably relatively greater than is that of General Miles. It is his business to look after the army as a whole.

The internal economy of the army is the sphere of his activity, and he is the active military adviser of the secretary. He determines the distribution of the army throughout the empire and takes charge of military operations of magnitude. He is, moreover, supposed to be thoroughly well posted at all times concerning the needs of the troops. In this work he is given immediate assistance by the bureau of military intelligence, which keeps him informed not only as to the condition of his own army, but, as far as may he, as to the strength and movements of the armies of foreign powers.

Right Hon. Sir R. H. Buller has the office of adjutant general, which General Wolseley held before hetbecame commander in chief. The adjutant general is a sort of vice commander in chief, as he succeeds to that office in the event of the death or incapacity of his superior. His especial duty is to superintend the recruiting and to see that the new men are competent soldiers before they are admitted into the regular army.

The position of our adjutant general is somewhat similar to this, but it appears that the British officer's field of activity is somewhat wider and that his ófficial influence is more tangible. Another highly important official is the inspector general of fortifications, that office being held by Lieutenaut General Sir Robert Grant. As the title indicates, he has charge of the Eng lish system of fortifications, including the erection of forts, their care and equipment.

The quartermaster general bears strong official resemblance to the United States officer of the same title. It is his duty to see that the army is supplied at all times with food, fuel, lights, horses, forage, quarters and the means of transportation, both by land and water. He must also devise means for paying all officers, soldiers and other persons associated with the army, and he handles for this purpose every year $90,000,000, the sum annually appropriated by parliament for the maintenance of the army. He must at all times have in readiness sufficient clothing and provisions for the army. The inspector general of ordunuce is at the head of another of the vital departments of the army. He must supply the army with armament and war equipment material...

In addition to these five great departments, there are minor departments devoted to medical service, military edueation and veterinary work.

Working hand in glove with all these departments is the civil financial bureau, over which the parliamentary financial secretary presides. The clothing factories at Pimlico, the ordnance factories at Woolwich and the small arms factories at Enfield are under his immediate supervision. To him are submitted the annual estimates for all departments of the army, the accounts of all departments are audited by him, and it is by him that the money for all current expenses is issued.

To avoid friction between this civil functionary and the military authorities there is established a war office consulate council, which considers matters affecting more than one department. The secretary of state for war presides over this council, and there is no appeal from his decision. A staff of military and civilian officials, numbering about 800, is necessary for the PAWNSHOPS AND BANKS. System Seems to Have Existed from the Earliest Times.

The original pawnshop is difficult to ocate, says the Bulletin of the Department of Labor. Early historians were interested In other lines, and only when he royal crown was placed in pawn, or the king took steps to curb the cupidity of the hated money lender was the subject of pawns and pledges mentioned. Moreover, the history of pawnbroking is so interwoven with that of usury and banking that its complete separation from these subjects is, for a time at least, an impossibility. From the carliest times and with all peoples the system of pledging effects as security for advances in money has existed in come form. In this early period all those who accepted pledges as security for loans were not pawnbrokers in the sense that we today use the term. Of the antiquity of pawnbroking we are assured, but are without a clew as to what may have been the process of its metamorphosis from the time of the Jewish law to that of the Roman. Its analogy to banking, the fact that the pawnbrokers later became bankers, would lead to the conclusion that private pawnbrokers existed long before the state took cognizance of the business. It seems probable that the constant taking of articles in pledge, which of necessity demanded their safe keeping to secure the repayment of the loan, suggested the like deposit of money and valuables. In this case the progenitor of the present banking system was originally a pawnshop, instead of a bank which later took up the pawn business.

Sobility is Frint. In England many women of the nobility make a good deal of pocket money by writing for the papers and magazines. According to one of them, American women are the cause of much of the extravagance of English women today. The magnificent wardrobes with which American women invaded London made it necessary for their English sisters to think more about their clothes than they had been accustomed to do. . It may be a bit hard on the Englishman's pocketbook, but it surely is better for his eyesight.

"Camille" Cheap in Chinese. A Frenchmen has just succeeded in translating "La Dame aux Camelias" lato the mandarin dialect, under the title of "The Lady With the Tea Flowers: A Study of Parisian Manners." So great has been its success that a leading native paper in Shanghai has offered a good round sum for the serial rights. But a critic thinks that something a little more insipid, say "Le Roman d'un Jeune Homme Pauvre," would secure wider appreciation and a larger sale.—London Chronicle.

Cullnary Labor in Spain.

In Spain a waitress may be had for $1.50 or $2 a month, and often merely for her board and clothes. Good cooks command $3; but, if allowed to do the marketing, they will accept $2. Marketing is a peculiar process in that country. Every one buys simply for the day, and it pays him to do so. Eggs come cheaper by the dozen than by buying a large quantity. The same thing holds good of candy and many other supplies.

Good evening, esteemed Milwaukee Journal! You're next!—Janesville Gazette, Rep. Isn't the procession likely to be the other way? Sposing the Germnia newspaper of Mil-way should take the place vacated by the La Crosse Chronicle? The Watertown Repub-lican recognizes the possibility when it says:

It is being predicted in some quarters that a large portion of the German voters of the northwest, who were so solidly for McKinley three years ago on the money question, will leave the republican party next year if it declares strongly for expansion. No less an authority than The Milwankee Germania, which is inclose touch with German republicans, fears this will be the outcome, and sounds a warning in time.

The Germans of Milwaukee may be opposed to the policy of expansion, but we do not believe that they are opposed to upholding the American flag. They well realize that circumstances over which the administration had no control, made the United States responsible to the world for the Philippine islands. To abandon them now would be coward ice-cowardice physical and moral. The Filipinos must be subjugated, taught to enforce law and order, and made to bow to modern civilization and progress. To bring about these ends in the duty of the United States, in the eyes of both God and man.

No class of citizens, in this section of the state, were more anxious to see think of us. * Spain brought to book, than were the patriotic Germans. They were for war and justice to the oppressed. They backed their sentiments with their services, and German names were conspicuous in the list of members of the local volunteer company...

Rock county Germans were in favor of war when it was honorable, and doubtless favor an honorable peace, but they do not favor a dishonorable peace. Therefore, we have no fears on this score. The German-Americans are patriotic and progressive citizens, and they will "join themselves to no party that does not carry the flag and keep step to the music of the Union."

Senator Billy Mason, at the banquet clared himself in favor of the nomination of Admiral Dewey for president, but the sentiment was not applauded. Billy's day has passed. He is no longer a Moses. When he says anything the people look askance, and stepping gingerly around his suggestions, go their way. Poor Billy! He did it with his

Carter H. Harrison, who "also rao" in the late Chicago Fall Festival, now complains that "Estimable Citizens" monopolized President McKinley's time. We were under the impression that President McKinley prefered to associate with estimable people. What would Carter have done to entertain him?

Why doesn't the patriotic "tax-payer"—whose sole ambition is, apparently, to see public public buildings located as near to his own property as possiblesign his name to his communications? If he had any faith in his arguments he would nublish them over his own signature.

Perhaps the plutocratic steamer owners of New York have entered into an agreement with the money devil to kill off the wind so that the people who want to see the yacht race will have to pay "one dollar a trip" every day for the next 920 years.

ROCK COUNTY MAN CHOSEN PRESIDENT

H, A. MOHLENPAH HEADS THE STATE Y. M. C. A.

At Green Bay Yesterday the Selection of Officers Took Place-Delegation From Janesville Departed This Morning-Local Association Band to Furnish Music.

Rock county was honored vesterday when delegates to the state Young Men's Christian Association convention, now in session at Green Bay, selected H. A Mohlenpah of Clinton, as president for the coming year."

Delegates from all over the state are present at the convention, which held its opening session in the Presbyterian church yesterday atternoon. The session was opened with a quiet hour serv ice, followed by a bible hour. A pre-liminary organization was effected.

This morning's session at St. Paul's M. E. church was opened at 8 o'clock with a half hour's devotional service, led by J. C. Kline, general secretary at Janesville. This was followed by three minute reports from the different associations throughout the state. At 11 o'clock a bible hour was conducted by the Rev. R. A. Torrey of the Chicago Bible institute.

The atternoon session today was given up to the subject, "The Association a Field for Volunteer Work." The principal address was delivered by .C. J. Hicks, secretary of the railway depart ment of the International committee George H. Trimmings took the subject, "Physical Field." E. F. Boettcher, general secretary at Baraboo, took the subject, "Physical Field," and S. P. Luce, general secretary at Oshkosh, "Spiritual Field." At 3:40 a bible hour was held, Rev. R. A., Torrey conducting the address on "Prayer"

Secretary F. E. Anderson conducted the quiet hour service vesterday afternoon and H. M. Kellogg of Milwaukee, led the bible exercises. A nominating committee was appointed as follows:
Arthur B. Smith, Sheboygan; L. H.
Fox, Ashland; G., Burt, Kenosha; J. Ward, Oshkosh; A. B. Stout, Whitewater. At the evening session nominations were made by the committee for offices af follows: President-H. A. Mohlenpah, Clinton.

Vice President—S. H. Cady, Green

Secretary—Charles Publer Kau-

The elections were unanimous. The appointment of an assistant secretary was deferred until today. President Mohlenpah being absent, Vice President Cady, who is president of the Green Bay association, took the chair. He made a brief speech of welcome. The feature of the evening program was an address by Fred Smith, secretary of the international committee, on "Sources of Power." He emphasized very strongly the need of keeping the religious work of the Y. M. C. A constantly in view. He was not opposed to various branches of Y. M. C. A. work, but the teaching of christianity should come first. He pictured the life of young men in cities as terrible beyondrealization. There had never been greater need for work and greater work was never done than was now being carried on by the Y. M. C. A. It was not a day dreaming organization, but prices. Brown Bros. was the most active power of the church. Its growth had been astonishing, particularly in the college and rail-way branches. The speaker spoke also of the peculiar characteristics necessary for successful Y. M. C. A. work: The principal one, he said, was earnest christian conduct and grit.

TRAIN FROM HERE BADLY WRECKED

JANESVILLE LAST EVENING.

Cars Were Piled High Near Elroy-Local Officials Have But Little to Say-Thirty-One Cars Composed the Train When It Left the Bower

When the Janesville-St. Paul through freight, on the Chicago & Northwestern ailroad, left the local yards at 6:30 clock last evening, bound for the Twin cities, little thought did the crew have of a wreck.

Dispatches received in Janeaville this morning state that the train was badly wreckef d near Elroy. The cause is unknown. The freight is known as No. 79 and is scheduled to leave Janesville at 6:30 o'clock in the evening. Last evening the train departed on time, with Conductor Barthdone in charge, and Engineer H. Shields in the cab. Both men reside in Baraboo. Local railway officials claim to be ignorant of the cause of the wreck, but admit that they have received dispatches stating that no one was seriously injured. The cars were piled up on both sides of the track.

When the train left Janesville several loaded oil cars were among the number. The St. Paul vestibule into Janesville this morning was late, owing to the blocking of tracks.

Wrecking crews were called from Madison and Baraboo.

LARGEST CONSIGNMENT OF LIVE POULTRY.

Greatest That Has Ever Left the Bower City At One Time-Eggs Will Be Scarce For This Vicinity ... Leaves Tomorrow For New York

Five thousand cackling chickens made life miserable this morning for the residents residing in the vicinity of the Chicago & Northwestern freight depot.

Fully one hundred Rock county farmers, residing within a radius of ten miles of Janesville, were on hand with a coop of fewls loaded in their wagons. This sudden invasion of poultry is the result of active work throughout the county of late on the part of Charles Van Galder and Joseph Newman of the town of La Prairie, who have been buy-ing for L. A. Van Galder of Hartley, Iowa. Tomorrow evening these five thousand chickens will be shipped to New York City, where they will be turned over to commission dealers.

Earve Van Galder of the town of La Prairie, will accompany this consignment of poultry which is the largest single shipment ever made from Janes-

Special poultry cars, nine floors to a car, were brought from Chicago. Each floor is provided with water tanks and food boxes, so the fowls do not suffer. Mr. Newman said this morning 'Chicken are more scarce in this vicinity than they have ever been before, We have visited nearly every farmer within a radius of ten miles of Janesville. These chickens will average four pounds in weight. We paid six cents a pound live weight."

A quiet and pretty wedding took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Swingle of Sho-piere, when their daughter, Lettie E. Swingle, and Gorden B. Randall of this city, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. B. C. Denison, pastor of the Congregational church of this city, spoke the magic words, after which they received the congratulations of about forty invited relatives. The bride was charming in white organdic and carried bride's roses. Miss Alice Ran-dall of this city, played the wedding march by Mendelssohn. After the ceremony a bounteous supper, was served Mr. and Mrs. Randall will make their home in this city.

Under the above title a writer. La Nature, of Paris, contributes an interesting article on spontaneous combustion, showing that when stored hay, bales of cotton, tobacco, etc., take fire, the action is in the first place due to bacteria. In wet seasons such fires are most common and are due to storing the hay, etc., in a damp state; fermentation follows, with great rise of temperature—a process due entirely to the action of microbes; the hay is changed to a dry, porous and carbonaceous condition, and it presently takes fire. It will consume slowly, until accident brings the external air to its help, when the incandescent mass bursts into fiame, and the microbes, which caused the initial mischief are dein Arctic Explorer Who Sees Utilitarian Possibilities In the Northern Lights.

BY ANDREW DOWNS.

To capture the aurora borealis, rob it of its immense electrical power and set it to turning wheels and sputtering between the carbons of millions of arc lights—such is the ambition of Evelyn B. Baldwin, an arctic explorer, who has recently returned with the Wellman expedition.

'Mr. Baldwin assumes that It is the passage of an electrical current between the north and south poles which causes the aurora. Of course there is some doubt as to this. The scientists have never been able to investigate this aerial butterfly of the north very closely. Still their theories are mostly based on the assumption that polar electricity has something to do with it. Mr. Baldwin has made two trips to the arctics and each time he has been deeply impressed by the northern In 1894 he accompanied Lieutenant Greely to Greenland and during the winter of 1898-9 he was with Wellman in Franz-Josef Land.

His observations have convinced him that this great electrical force which is now wasted on the unthinking Eskimo, who scarcely appreciates these brilliant spectacular displays, could be placed within the control of human ingenuity and be made to become a utilitarian power.

In explaining his theory he has lately written as follows:

'Is it not reasonable to conclude that the rapid motion so characteristic of every form of this phenomenon is the indication of a great force which could also be put to a practical use?

"That this force is electrical and that the polar regions serve as great reservoirs of it I have no doubt, and when this supposition is established it must also follow that there are great and controllable currents flowing within the earth between the two great polar reservoirs, currents which could be utilized in the propulsion of machinery and the workings of dynamos quite as readily as by the lesser power houses of our great cities.

"So far in the study of the aurora the means have been limited, and we have been restricted in our researches to mere ocular observations and the effects of the auroral displays upon inexpensive apparatus. I have already referred to the color of the aurora and incidentally to the motions in movement, but an appreciation of the intensity of this force can only be arrived at by noting the rapid motions observed with almost every appearance of a display. For instance, there is not only motion in the individual parts of a display, such as from side to side or in wave forms like a cur tain, but also a movement of the entire display from south to north and vice versa or a movement of different parts of the display toward each other as though the parts were acting from attraction and repulsion.

"As to the height of the auroral patches, ares, bows, coronne-for in such forms they generally appear—but little is definitely known. Frequently I have observed them to appear below the stratus form or cloud and therefore quite near the surface of the earth.

"In order to arrive at more definite conclusions concerning the auroral phenomenon an expedition should be organized for the purpose of studying the phenomenon in all its details. The expedition should be well equipped with instruments and should be composed of men who thoroughly understand electricity and the appliances.

Once the great force were chained to man's purposes, what a saving would follow in labor and illumination and fuel, and what an impetus would be given to commerce in now almost inaccessible regions! Without doubt the north magnetic pole is the center of the great force in the north polar regions, and as this point lies just to the northward of the Hudson bay region it is, therefore, at the very threshold of the vast British American territory."

"It's wonderful," she said, "than those laborers can walk about so recklessly at that dizzy height."

"Yes," he said, "it seems reckless until you know how safe it is."

"How can it be safe?" she cried in amazement.

"Simplest thing you ever heard of," he answered. "Each of those men up there has a powerful magnet fitted into the soles of his shoes. The magnets cling#like death to the iron crossbeams. They cling so tightly that a man couldn't fall off if he wanted to. Sometimes the magnets pull so hard that little men who haven't much leg muscle find it difficult to lift their feet to walk

"The other morning I was strolling by in the street below the building when a pockerknife suddenly cluttered on the pavement in front of me. A silver quarter and a couple of dimes and a key quickly followed it.

"Then I heard laughter up above and hastily looked up. One of the workmen had slipped from a long crossbeam and was hanging up there at the sixteenth story, feet up and head downward, supported by the magnets in his soles. It was his pockets that gave forth the silver shower. Oh, no, bless you, there is really no danger about it executioner's knife, bears evidence to the fact that barbarous treatment of criminals is still practiced in the South American as well as in some European countries. Louise Johnson, alias "Littie Lou," whom the police call the cleverest confidence woman in the country, was arrested recently on a charge of shoplifting. The police seldom have difficulty in apprehending her, for the missing ear is a tell-tale mark. this respect the woman's case is similar to those of a score of other crooks who have felt foreign prison tortures and have been released, marked for life. The case of the Johnson woman is regarded by Capt. McClusky, chief of detectives, as probably one of the most remarkable in its extreme cruelty that has ever come under his observation. The wife of "Big Tom" Bigelow, the English bank robber, young, educated and beautiful, she was arrested in Brafil less than five years ago, charge? with robbing a Spanish courtess of several thousand dollars' worth of diamonds. She had a typical South American trial, was sentenced to receive 40 lashes on the bare back and to have her left ear cut off. Forty lashes usually means death to a woman, but this did not alone satisfy Brazilian justice. That the woman survived her punishment is remarkable, but as a criminal she is no longer a success, for though she wears her hair plastered down over the spot where the knife passed she cannot hide the disfigurement. Some months ago a well-dressed Italian was arrested by detectives who regarded his actions in the banking district as suspicious. He was questioned at police headquarters, but protested his innocence of criminal intent. He was about to be released when one of the detectives observed an ugly scar on the man's forehead. On examination, it proved to be a brand, the letter "T!" Questioned, the man confessed that he had been released from a Servian prison, where he had been branded as a thief. Several instances are on record at headquarters where prisoners have upon their bodies.

In Franco a method of seasoning wood through the agency of electricity is credited with much success. It is called the Nodon-Bretonneau process. The timber is nearly immersed in a tank of water containing ten per cent of borax, five of resin, and a little carbonate of soda, and rests on a lead plate connected with the positive pole of a dynamo. Another similar plate, lying on the exposed surface of the timber, is connected with the negative pole. Thus a current of electricity can be passed through the wood, from: which all the sap appears to be removed, while the borax and resin takes its place in the pores. In a few hours the timber is taken out and dried, and the seasoning is said to be complete.

President McKinley Definitely Defines His Policy.

"IMPERIALISM" RIDICULED.

I. His Speech at Minneapolls the Chies Magistrate Points Out How Often by the United States. This Cry Has Been Raised in the Country's History.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 13.-Presiteenth regiment from the Philippines. The occasion was also made to cover the broadest declaration he has yet uttered on retention of conquered terri-

The president in the beginning expressly gave his personal thanks to the Thirteenth regiment, which had been a part of the Eighth army corps in the Philippines, for continuing to fight after the peace treaty with Spain had been signed, and for being willing to go fighting until he could create a new army to take its place. Then he plunged into a straight pro-expansion

The president recited at length, quoting from public utterances for a hundred years, how the nation had expanded, how the cry of "imperialism" was raised against Jefferson by opponents of the Louisiana purchase, and how the acquisition of Alaska was fought and ridiculed.

Tracing of each step in expansion was capped with this comment: "The opponents (of expansion) were in the minority and the star of the republic did not set."

Then he recited in detail the acquisition of the Hawaiian islands, of the Ladrones, of Porto Rico and of the Philippines, and closed:
"The future of these new posses sions is in the keeping of congress, and congress is the servant of the people. That they will be retained under the benign sovereignty of the United States I not permit myself to doubt.

That they will prove a rich and val-uable heritage I feel assured. That congress will provide for them a government which will bring them blessings, which will promote their material interests as well as advance their people in the path of civilization and intelligence, I confidently believe. They will not be governed as vassals or serfs or slaves. They will be given a government of liberty regulated by law, honestly administered without onpressing exactions, taxation without tyranny, justice without bribery, education without distinction of social condition, freedom of religious worship and protection of life, liberty and the pursuits of happiness."

This speech by the president was the most notable event in the most notable day he has had since leaving Wash-The whole state seemed to have flocked hither to see and hear the president, as well as to help welcome the Philippine fighters. Returning soldiers, national guardsmen, veterans of the civil war and civic societies paraded more than an hour in review before the president. It has absolutely no significance, except that we dent McKinley helped Minneapolis and hope thereby to avert local friction. Of Minnesota welcome home their Thircourse an arrival at even a temporary agreement is satisfactory. So far as the original contention is concerned, we are just as misty as ever. Several Regiments Coming Home. San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 13 .- Word has been received that the transport Indiana, with the Tennessee regiment, the last volunteer regiment to leave Manila, is at Nagasaki, taking on coal for its home run across the Pacific.

The transport Senator, bearing the Iowa regiment, is expected to arrive here about Oct. 22. Several other transports with discharged soldiers on board are due to arrive about the end Gen. Funston, Gov. Stanley and the

Kansas regiment will participate in a demonstration in honor of the Montana troops to be held in Oakland on Satur-

Christian Church Missions. Cincinnati, Oct. 13.—The most notable gathering of foreign missionaries that has ever been held in Cincinnati will open here today. The occasion will be the national jubilee convention of the missionary societies of the Christian church. Among the countries which will be represented are Mexico, India, Japan, China, Siam and others in which the Christian church has established missions. The meeting will be notable for the presence of an unusual number of veteran missionaries some of whom have been in harness for over half a century.

LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 60.1863 "DHAR MRS. PINKHAM-Two years ago I began having such dull, heavy dragging pains in my back, menses were profuse and painful, and was troubled was leucorrhoea. I took patent medicines and consulted a physician, but received no benefit and could not become pregnant. Seeing one of your books, I wrote to you telling you my troubles and asking for advice. You answered my letter promptly and I followed the directions faithfully, and derived so much benefit that I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough. I now find myself pregnant and have begun its use again. I cannot praise it enough."-MRS. CORA GILSON, YATES, MANISTEE, MICH.

TROOPS POUR INTO MANILA.

Vanguard of New Army Has Reached Gen. Otis.

HIS FORCE WILL BE AMPLE.

War Can Be Pushed Vigorously and All Territory Held - Active Operations Have Already Been Decided Upon-Arayat Captured.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The turning point in the Philippine war has been reached. The first of the new volunteer troops have arrived at Manila. For three months to come the new troops will pour into Manila until the American legions reach the 65,000

During the next eleven or twelve weeks American soldiers will join Otis at the rate of two big regiments a week, and the news of their arrival is likely to be scattered over the island of Luzon by the native scouts. Eight these regiments, counting the Thirty-fourth as among them, are afloat on the Pacific and rapidly approaching Manila. The other fourteen organized in this country will follow so quickly that Otis will have his army of 65,000 fighting men by Christmas or New Year's day.

The arrival of the first detachment of these volunteers puts an entirely new face on the situation in the Philippines. Gen. Otis can now go forward with his advance with the assurance that troops are coming to hold every mile of territory taken from the enemy. The days of withdrawing troops and abandoning outposts because of a dwindling army are past.

Now that the face of Luzon is getting somewhat drier, the American troops have already taken the offensive, and they will keep at it until Aguinaldo and his band surrenders or vanishes. Gen, Otis sent a dispatch, Thursday showing that the American lines are advancing both north and south of Manila.

Troops Capture Arayut.

Manila, Oct. 13.—Gen. Young entered Arayat Thursday, after half an hour's fighting. Maj. Bachelor's battalion of the Twenty-fourth (colored) infantry charged 300 insurgents, who retreated in the direction of Magalang. The American loss was one man slightly wounded. Four of the enemy were

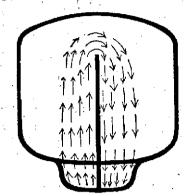

Gen. Schwan's column, which has been operating south of Manila, is resting at Perez Dasmarinas, after a fatiguing but unmolested march through submerged rice fields from San Francisco de Malabon. Two hundred and fifty insurgents evacuated Perez Dasmarinas before the Americans reached.

IF YOU WILL TAKE TIME

To get the Flue construction as shown below impressed upon your mind, you will readily see why it is that the Favorite Base Burner throw out more heat, with the same coal, than any other base burner made

THE NEW WAY.

In above Flue Construction there are NINE Surfaces Radiating Heat, Increasing the Heating Capacity with

The above Bottom Flue Construc-tion causes the Heat to go to the Outer Surfaces, Largely increasing the Heating Capacity and Economiz-ing in Fuel.

The "Favorite" Base Burner has More Heating Capacity and is the Most Economical Stove ever made. Why? Because it has about 1/3 more Radiating Surface as compared with same sizes of other base burners, and is Mounted and Fitted Perfectly.

Ask those who use the Favorite about its economy, cleanliness and wonderful heating capacity.

ABOUT OVERCOATS.

→OR the first time in some years the popularity of smooth faced overcoats is disputed by garments made from rough faced fabrice. We should not say 'rough' fabrics either, because the coats we have in mind are made from thick soft cloths with what appears to be a rough exterior, but when you touch them with your hand they are soft as the fur of a kitten

The shape is most graceful; fits well about the neck, square about the shoulders from which it hangs full *

We produce overcoats in these fabrics so excellent that it is a wilful waste of cash to pay your tailor twice the money to make you one no better.

DRESSED MAN

Gets more consideration than a ( shabby individual. The shabby man may really have more ability than the other, but the casual ob-server won't believe it. It's a mat-ter of business to be well dressed. It may be wrong, but people often judge a man by his clothes. They are sure to have a good opinion of him if he buys his clothes here.
